North Vancouver, B.C. - Capilano Suspension Bridge is thrilled to introduce the CAP2010 pass, an exclusive pass for BC residents to enjoy the park from now through 2010.

The CAP2010 pass offers BC residents unlimited admission to Capilano Suspension Bridge until December 31, 2010, enabling them to enjoy the full services and seasonal activities that make the park a year-round destination. The CAP2010 pass costs just $20.10, saving BC residents 30% off the regular adult admission rate.

“We recognize that more BC residents will be staying closer to home this summer and are pleased to offer them this pass to experience the park year-round,” said Nancy Stibbard, President and Owner of Capilano Suspension Bridge. “The CAP2010 pass offers BC residents a wealth of entertainment for unprecedented value.”

Capilano Suspension Bridge is recognized as one of BC’s most popular tourist attractions. With its spectacular views and gently swaying planks, Capilano Suspension Bridge has thrilled visitors for 120 years, including many local residents who return to the park on numerous occasions throughout the year.

In addition to the bridge, the park’s 27 acres offer entertainment for the whole family, including: The Story Centre, Kia’palano First Nations Cultural Centre, Kids Rainforest Explorer, guided history and nature tours, the award-winning Treetops Adventure, seasonal musical entertainment and of course the fabulous shopping at the Trading Post. Capilano also hosts popular seasonal events like Canyon Lights and the Jazz Festival. No guest ever leaves hungry with the variety of dining options, from the casual fare served up at the Loggers Grill and Canyon Café, to patio dining at The Bridge House Restaurant.

To take advantage of this offer, BC residents should go to www.capbridge2010.com for a downloadable voucher and details of the proof of residency requirements.
